

Savas Beatie

“Think The Da Vinci Code for the Wall Street set . . .
A great summer read.” — Business Week

Specifications

Release: March 2006
ISBN 1-932714-16-2
Trade hardback, 648 pp., $24.95

Promotional Information

-- National signing tour; radio,
print, and web media

Bartholomeaux Public Relations

Carole Bartholomeaux
13835 N. Tatum Blvd. # 9-421
Phoenix, AZ 85032
carole@b-pr.com (E-mail)
602-404-8018 (phone)

Distribution

Casemate Publishing
1016 Warrior Road, Suite C
Drexel Hill, PA 19026
610-853-9131 (phone)
610-853-9146 (fax)
casemate@casematepublishing.com

Paradigm

A Novel

by Robert D. Taylor

What is tomorrow's Wall Street Journal worth to you today? Where is the line between reality and fiction? Are the financial markets really predictable? Does an ancient artifact hold the key to how some of the world's wealthiest families made their fortunes?

When a granite and cypress Egyptian box is found hidden away in a secret room in the palatial Biltmore Estate, twin scientists Alex and Nicholas Shepard work to unlock the secret of its intricate dials, gauges, and carvings. What they discover has the potential to make them rich beyond their wildest dreams, but it could also collapse financial markets, bankrupt corporations around the globe, and destroy many of the world's most powerful families. As the twins quickly find out, people will not only kill to make money, but will also kill to keep it.

What begins as a simple scientific experiment dabbling in the stock market quickly descends into a nightmarish intrigue of murder, deception, and mystery. When one Shepard brother is killed, the surviving twin and his wife find themselves in a desperate gambit to learn the truth about the box's legacy. Using ancient documents found with the box, they unearth clues and trace its history through the ages, from the catacombs of Paris to the Knights of the Templar in Scotland. Their investigation takes them from London to Paris, Venice, and finally, to the Vatican itself, where they uncover the greatest deception ever perpetuated by man.

Robert D. Taylor's enthralling novel Paradigm is a unique and masterful blend of intelligent scientific suspense and bold historical mystery stretching from earliest antiquity to the present day--and beyond. His intriguing plot and cast of memorable characters makes for a suspenseful page-turner that will keep readers guessing about where the lines of reality and fiction merge.

Paradigm demands we believe the unbelievable. And yet the scientific and historical data supporting the "unbelievable" rests right before our eyes. The challenge of finding out just what is truly real and what is not is now up to you.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR: Robert D. Taylor is the CEO of Trend Corporation, Inc. His research in econo-physics regarding the development of economic modeling software earned him a nomination for the Nobel Prize in Economics in March 2000. Robert lives with his wife in Atlanta, Georgia. Keep up with all the latest paradigm news by visiting www.paradigmbook.com.

Savas Beatie

P.O. Box 4527
El Dorado Hills, CA 95762
916-941-6896 (voice)
916-941-6895 (fax)
www.savasbeatie.com
E-mail: sales@savasbeatie.com